Performance Comparison: Bubble Sort vs Quicksort

Based on the performance plots, it is evident that for input sizes greater than 500, bubble sort's runtime increases significantly compared to quicksort. Hence, a threshold of 500 as the point where the input is considered 'large,' and quicksort will be more efficient for sorting.